

Natural medicine for children

Integrative Medicine Institute (IMI) provides natural, homeopathic remedies to boost your child's immune system.

Because of pollution, high density and migratory population, Hong Kong tends to breed sicknesses and viral infections. Doctors here are quick to prescribe antibiotics, which although effective in killing off bad bacteria, also kills the good bacteria in our intestines that make up our immune system.

General family practitioner at IMI and homeopathic medicine expert Dr. Benita Perch says that prescribing children with antibiotics for their winter sicknesses is only a short-term solution that will backfire over time: "After each course they will get well, but only soon to see their immune systems crashing again which only makes them more susceptible to subsequent illnesses", states Dr. Perch.

Her solution to this compounding situation is natural remedies, where one can heal without compromising the body. "Instead of using antibiotics for even the slightest illnesses, natural remedies can just as effectively heal them with herbal medicine, homeopathic treatment and nutritional supplements", says Dr. Perch.

She also notes that homoeopathy is extremely effective at rebuilding the immune system after it has been compromised from months of antibiotics and other medication. Her goal is to keep the immune system strong so the children are less susceptible to catching the next bugs floating around in classrooms and playgrounds.

To achieve a better immune system and to treat acute illnesses for your children, Dr. Perch recommends a combination of elderberry syrup, vitamin C, and zinc at frequent and high dosages.

To learn more about natural remedies and homeopathic medicine, check out IMI's website.

IMI
 2523 7172
 www.imi.com.hk

Help Your Children Heal and Thrive—Naturally

IMI is a trusted natural and integrated medicine clinic.

Our experienced team of doctor and practitioners combines diagnostic laboratory tests with natural medicines and therapies to provide an effective, lasting healing without dependence on drugs and medications.

Let us help you get your children healthy physically, mentally and emotionally:

- Boosting immunity
- Nutrition and digestion
- Allergies, asthma and eczema
- Learning and behavioural issues
- Supporting physical growth
- Sports injuries, aches and pains

For more information, please visit: www.imi.com.hk

Heal. Balance. Evolve.

Phone: 2523 7121 (Central) 2537 1087 (Discovery Bay)
 Email: advice@imi.com.hk Facebook: www.facebook.com/imihk

Integrated Medicine Institute